*From the construction, it would seem that this house was built during the 1840s. At that time, the property was in the possession of Samuel E. Clement who received it from Eliza Clement in 1837. Clement sold to Thomas Sinnickson, Jr., in 1855. He apparently lost it for James J. Redstrake received title from William A. Casper, sheriff, in 1872. It remained in the Redstrake family until 1913 when Isaac Smith became the owner. He sold to the present owner in 1930.
